Geology Rocks!

The character of the Causeway Coast & Glens has its foundations in the geology, which makes up the area. The development of the marine area which will see the development of an interactive geology heritage which will be accessible on 20 sites across the AONBs.

Butterfly Conservation

The Causeway Coast & Glens AONB is rich in butterfly species. The Trust is working with Butterfly Conservation NI to develop a butterfly friendly landscape by planting the more butterfly friendly Barley Mauve.

Heritage Trust delivers £31,000

The Causeway Coast & Glens Heritage Trust (CC&GHT) is a CIC established to deliver a range of projects in the Causeway Coast & Glens area of outstanding natural beauty. The projects will be delivered in the Causeway Coast & Glens Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty and adjoining areas of the Causeway coastline, which will work to educate and increase awareness of the wide variety of species in the Causeway Coast & Glens.

Brain Teasers

Can you identify this bird?

It is a member of the crow family but shares none of the character. It is sociable but it is not to be trusted. It is noisy, with a distinct black and white striped head and tail. It is known全国各地 by a number of names and it can be found across the region. It is known as a blackbird and a blackbird. It is also known as a jay and a jay. It is known as a starling and a starling. It is known as a chaffinch and a chaffinch. It is also known as a wagtail and a wagtail. It is known as a robin and a robin.

Antrim Coast & Glens AONB Fact File:

Day: 19 December – Area: www.ccgght.org

Malcolm Milne: ADC, Antrim Coast & Glens AONB, 200 Lonsdale Street, Cushendun, Co. Antrim, BT21 0PH Tel: 028 2073 2106 Email: malcolm.milne@antrim.gov.uk

Can you find nine land species in this word?

rook

song thrush

carrion crow

tit

tawny owl

chaffe

green woodpecker

lamb

goldfinch

The Nature and Wildlife Services team has been working with the HLF on a number of projects in the Causeway Coast & Glens area.

LPS Project Manager: Tom McDonnell:

The National Lottery Landscape Partnership Scheme was established through the Heritage Lottery Fund (HLF) to support and develop partnerships between the community and environmental sector to enhance and develop the heritage and environment of the landscapes and sites for generations to come.
Crafty Causeway Coast and Glens!

The Causeway Coast and Glens is fast becoming a centre of excellence for culinary tourism. 3 craft manuscripts are being developed in the area which allow visitors to walk the entire route, learn about the history behind the very special home-baked unique piece of heritage.

Carole Kelly, the Causeway Coast and Glens Heritage Trust, said: “We are very excited to be working on this project in partnership with the Craft Council of Northern Ireland and each has its own distinct relationship with the causeway Coast and Glens, and marine habitats are rich in wildlife. The dramatic landscape of the Heart of the Glens with its characteristic rolling plateau and field patterns are maintained by the Causeway Coast & Glens Heritage Trust.”

Heart of the Glens, Ireland’s New Tourism Charter

The Causeway Coast and Glens is the only area in Ireland’s cultural tourism offering which is subject to that approval. It is anticipated that the Heart of the Glens will provide a unique opportunity to learn from the landscape, its formation, processes and the interconnection between the landscape and the culture of the area.

To celebrate the tenth anniversary of the Causeway Coast and Glens Heritage Trust (CCGHT) local MLA, Megan Fearon and Culbin Forest Country Park, has been awarded the designation of Conservation Area.

Councillor with the scheme please contact the Causeway Coast and Glens Heritage Trust Office.

The Newsletter for the Antrim Coast and Glens Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB)万万没想到的惊喜

The Antrim Coast & Glens area over the next few years, will allow the entrepreneurial spirit of local people to flourish as they capitalise on the special experiences of the Causeway Coast & Glens region. ‘This is a very exciting award for Apprentice to his enthusiasm for the Causeway Coast & Glens region. Councillor with the scheme please contact the Causeway Coast and Glens Heritage Trust Office.

The Causeway Coast and Glens region has received a European Charter Mark for Sustainable Tourism in Protected Areas.

To celebrate the tenth anniversary of the Causeway Coast and Glens Heritage Trust (CCGHT) local MLA, Megan Fearon and Culbin Forest Country Park, has been awarded the designation of Conservation Area.

The region is one of high scenic value, historic settlements are conserved and made more accessible, while the distinctive cultural heritage projects will include the survey and management of woodland, conservation of the red deer and restoration of selected archaeological sites.

The rich natural heritage of the area will be conserved through a series of schemes to protect the culture and heritage that is home to some of Ireland’s most famous sites of interest.

The dramatic landscape of the Heart of the Glens with its characteristic rolling plateau and field patterns are maintained by the Causeway Coast & Glens Heritage Trust. The projects developed during the development phase: will aim:

- To increase the understanding of the area and re-enforce the relationship and maintain the special landscape character and identity of the area and re-enforce the relationship
- To provide better access to the landscape and culture.
- To protect the culture and heritage that is home to some of Ireland’s most famous sites of interest.
- To protect the culture and heritage that is home to some of Ireland’s most famous sites of interest.
- To protect the culture and heritage that is home to some of Ireland’s most famous sites of interest.
- To protect the culture and heritage that is home to some of Ireland’s most famous sites of interest.
- To protect the culture and heritage that is home to some of Ireland’s most famous sites of interest.

Heart of the Glens - Landscape Partnership Scheme

The dramatic landscape of the Heart of the Glens is fast becoming a centre of excellence for culinary tourism. 3 craft manuscripts are being developed in the area which allow visitors to walk the entire route, learn about the history behind the very special home-baked unique piece of heritage. Carole Kelly, the Causeway Coast and Glens Heritage Trust, said: “We are very excited to be working on this project in partnership with the Craft Council of Northern Ireland and each has its own distinct relationship with the causeway Coast and Glens, and marine habitats are rich in wildlife. The dramatic landscape of the Heart of the Glens with its characteristic rolling plateau and field patterns are maintained by the Causeway Coast & Glens Heritage Trust.”

Heart of the Glens, Ireland’s New Tourism Charter

The Causeway Coast and Glens is the only area in Ireland’s cultural tourism offering which is subject to that approval. It is anticipated that the Heart of the Glens will provide a unique opportunity to learn from the landscape, its formation, processes and the interconnection between the landscape and the culture of the area.

To celebrate the tenth anniversary of the Causeway Coast and Glens Heritage Trust (CCGHT) local MLA, Megan Fearon and Culbin Forest Country Park, has been awarded the designation of Conservation Area.

The region is one of high scenic value, historic settlements are conserved and made more accessible, while the distinctive cultural heritage projects will include the survey and management of woodland, conservation of the red deer and restoration of selected archaeological sites.

The rich natural heritage of the area will be conserved through a series of schemes to protect the culture and heritage that is home to some of Ireland’s most famous sites of interest. The area is one of high scenic value, historic settlements are conserved and made more accessible, while the distinctive cultural heritage projects will include the survey and management of woodland, conservation of the red deer and restoration of selected archaeological sites.

The causeway Coast and Glens Heritage Trust Office.

The Newsletter for the Antrim Coast and Glens Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB)万万没想到的惊喜

The Antrim Coast & Glens area over the next few years, will allow the entrepreneurial spirit of local people to flourish as they capitalise on the special experiences of the Causeway Coast & Glens region. ‘This is a very exciting award for Apprentice to his enthusiasm for the Causeway Coast & Glens region. Councillor with the scheme please contact the Causeway Coast and Glens Heritage Trust Office.

The Causeway Coast and Glens region has received a European Charter Mark for Sustainable Tourism in Protected Areas.

To celebrate the tenth anniversary of the Causeway Coast and Glens Heritage Trust (CCGHT) local MLA, Megan Fearon and Culbin Forest Country Park, has been awarded the designation of Conservation Area.

The region is one of high scenic value, historic settlements are conserved and made more accessible, while the distinctive cultural heritage projects will include the survey and management of woodland, conservation of the red deer and restoration of selected archaeological sites.

The rich natural heritage of the area will be conserved through a series of schemes to protect the culture and heritage that is home to some of Ireland’s most famous sites of interest.

The dramatic landscape of the Heart of the Glens with its characteristic rolling plateau and field patterns are maintained by the Causeway Coast & Glens Heritage Trust. The projects developed during the development phase: will aim:

- To increase the understanding of the area and re-enforce the relationship
- To provide better access to the landscape and culture.
- To protect the culture and heritage that is home to some of Ireland’s most famous sites of interest.
- To protect the culture and heritage that is home to some of Ireland’s most famous sites of interest.
- To protect the culture and heritage that is home to some of Ireland’s most famous sites of interest.
- To protect the culture and heritage that is home to some of Ireland’s most famous sites of interest.