

Antrim Coast & Glens Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty Action Plan 2021-2025

FOREWORD

Mary O' Driscoll, Chair of Glens Tourism Cluster, Rathlin Island Ferry operator since 2008 and Business Manager of The Manor House, Rathlin Island

The natural beauty of the area along the Glens, Antrim Coast and Rathlin Island are unique. Nature has shaped the landscape's many features, often untouched by man or modern technology. Murlough Bay retains an otherworldly atmosphere and offers the visitor a haven of natural beauty and tranquillity. Fair Head, from both land and sea, is an iconic headland standing guard unchanged since the ice age. The towns and villages along the Antrim Coast Road retain their gentle charm, with family run businesses that add a personal touch to services and products. North County Antrim offers a gentle, relaxing and welcoming retreat that boasts outstanding geological and natural beauty. From a visitor perspective, once you slow down and step off the busy Causeway Coastal Route the quality of the visitor experience soars and remains untouched by mass tourism; a blight being experienced in other areas of the island of Ireland.

CCGHT, and all the partners featured within the Management and Action Plans, recognise the importance of the natural beauty of the area. Their commitment to actions will help raise awareness of the need to enhance and protect the AONB's rich heritage into the future. All development in this area needs to be very carefully considered and any actions or changes must take into consideration the area's delicate environment. CCGHT have already proven to be successful in their partnership approach and sustainable landscape management supports healthy, thriving communities, enriched by a cared for landscape.

My personal interest is on and around Rathlin Island. The challenges for us are to develop more sustainable methods of energy. I believe that Rathlin, because of both its location and the fact that it has not been over developed in recent years, is well placed to focus on alternative sources of energy such as hydrogen power. The general feeling among the businesses and community is that Rathlin could become a "flagship" of natural sustainability and be a working example for other communities, both on mainland Northern Ireland and further afield. Development has to happen, but it can be achieved in tandem with maintaining and protecting the natural environment.

The Covid-19 pandemic has of course negatively impacted on the income stream of all businesses on Rathlin. However, it has given all of us time to "pause for thought" and maybe reconsider how we will go forward. Appreciation of our natural and cultural heritage is now more important for the community and, because of the Covid pause, the feeling among the population is that we want to move forward in reopening with a greater understanding of how we can develop our products and services, with emphasis on showcasing and preserving our rich heritage.

Here on Rathlin we are reopening and restarting post Covid. In partnership with CCGHT and many others, a sustainable approach to tourism will reap benefits well into the future. If the impacts of the Covid-19 pandemic has taught us anything, it is that the landscape and its rich built, natural and cultural heritage is collectively the greatest asset we have for our wellbeing and development.

I will close by saying that, by working together with shared aims and goals articulated through the Management and Actions Plans, we can improve the quality of life and economic stability of our area, whilst staying actively focused on enjoying, understanding, and caring for the landscape. Collectively, across the AONB, we can present an outward positive force to regain our position in the tourism world through a sustainable approach.

FOREWORD

Graham Thompson, CEO of Causeway Coast and Glens Heritage Trust

I have been CEO of CCGHT for 5 years, since 2016. Before that I sat as a board member of the organisation between 2003 and 2012. AONB management is at the heart of what CCGHT does and is our raison d'être. We promote and raise awareness of our very special places which helps residents and visitors alike understand the need for proactive landscape management.

The highlight of CCGHT's activity in the Antrim Coast and Glens AONB has been the Heart of the Glens Landscape Partnership Scheme. Thanks to the support of lottery players, through the National Lottery Heritage Fund, we have been able to make a real and lasting difference to many aspects of life in the Antrim Glens. This includes the promotion of greater agricultural resilience, to the provision of access and the reinvigoration of traditional skills, to investment in cultural activities. The Heart of the Glens LPS has led to a strengthened, strategic approach to AONB management that demonstrates the positive changes that can be brought about with an appropriate level of resourcing. Furthermore, achieving success in the area is simply impossible without partnership working. As well as the various statutory organisations, we need the buy-in and active engagement of local communities, environmental organisations, the agricultural community, residents and visitors.

This new AONB Management plan is designed to provide maximum benefit to rural communities while recognising why this important landscape needs to be protected. The Management and associated Action Plan promotes the provision of sustainable tourism activities in rural areas, advocating for appropriate rural diversification and sympathetic farming practices and aiming to support individuals and communities to make a real difference in their area.

We are particularly keen to ensure meaningful engagement with a diverse range of demographics, including young people and those at the end of their working lives.

This Management Plan has been finalised during the most difficult working time many of us have ever experienced – the COVID-19 pandemic. This has given us the opportunity to focus so that we can deliver all that is expected of us, but perhaps differently, as we move towards a new normality.

Our work would not be possible without the support of DAERA NIEA, Mid and East Antrim and Causeway and Coast Glens Borough Councils, Tourism NI and the National Lottery Heritage Fund.

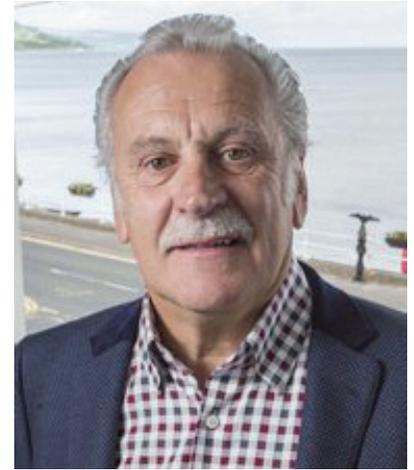

FOREWORD

Roy Craig, Chair of Antrim Coast and Glens AONB Management Forum

I have had the pleasure of being involved in the work to enrich and promote the built, natural and cultural heritage of the Antrim Coast & Glens Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty for over 20 years, since I was first elected to Larne Borough Council in 1997. My close affiliation and love for the Antrim Coast and Glens AONB stems from my maternal family, the Ingilis and McIlwrath's, who all 'hail from The Glens'.

I believe that conserving and responsibly promoting the outstanding landscapes and heritage of Antrim Coast and Glens AONB benefits all who live in, work in and visit the area. Sustainable economic growth keeps rural communities thriving, while spectacular landscapes and a rich culture support healthy minds and lifestyles. I look forward to guiding the Management Forum's partnership work with stakeholders, landowners and local communities to deliver the aspirations of this Plan.

INTRODUCTION

This five-year Antrim Coast & Glens Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) Action Plan was produced by Causeway Coast & Glens Heritage Trust (CCGHT) on behalf of partner organisations represented within the Antrim Coast & Glens AONB Management Forum and the Northern Ireland Environment Agency (NIEA). Spanning 2021-2025, it identifies tasks required to deliver on the aims and objectives of the Antrim Coast & Glens AONB Management Plan 2020-2030.

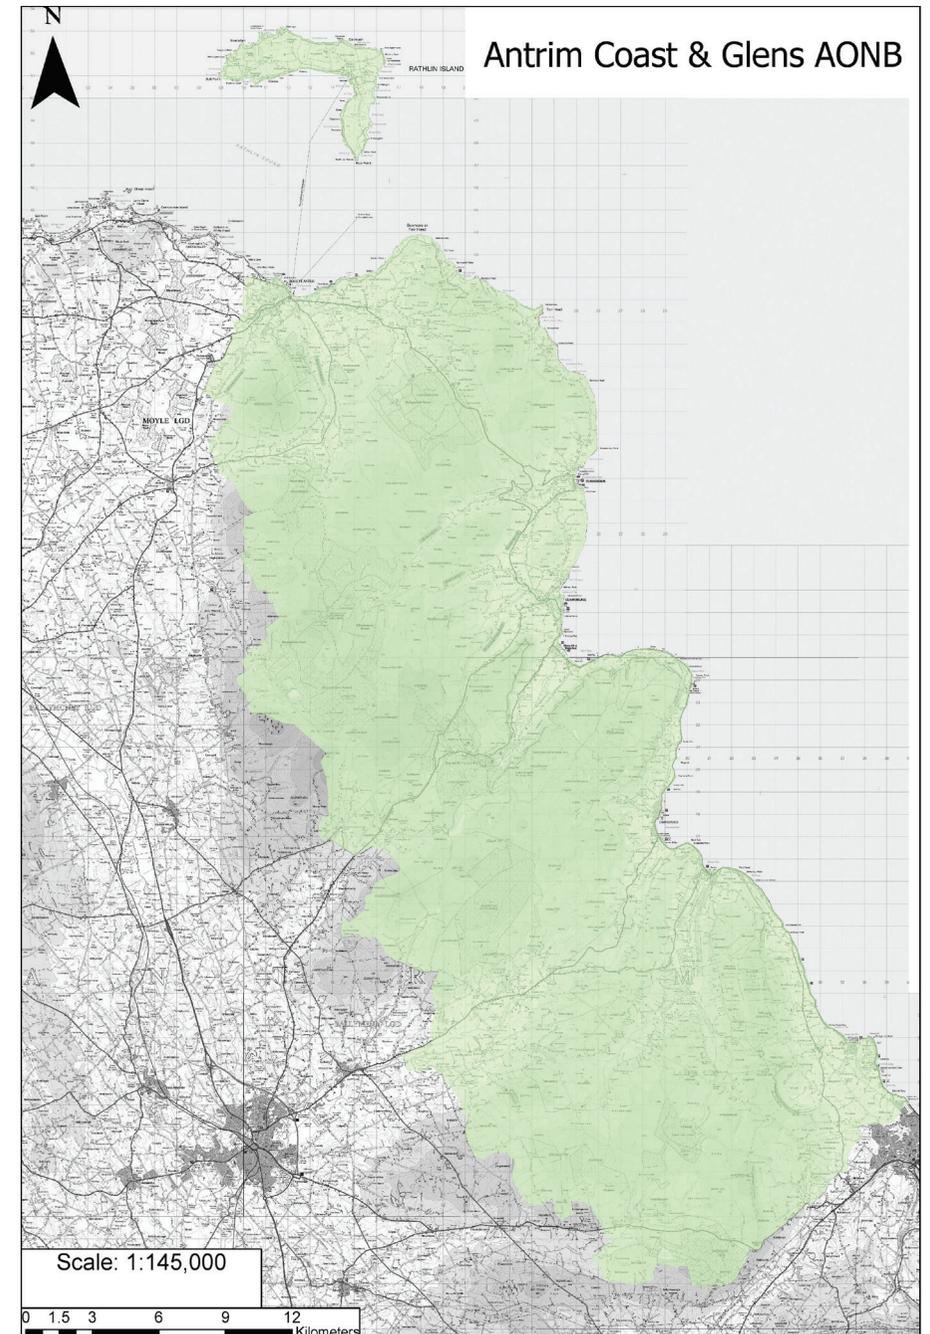

All actions within this Plan are subject to funding and available resource. Timelines and specifics of action delivery may be adjusted to allow for funding or project requirements, or to adapt to partner work plans or circumstances (eg. COVID-19 restrictions). If an action cannot be delivered an alternative activity will be sought where possible.

It is acknowledged that, in some cases, one activity can satisfy more than one action within this Plan – collaborative and cross cutting activities are encouraged to support delivery of objectives.

A vision for the Antrim Coast & Glens AONB

The outstanding landscape and rich heritage of Antrim Coast & Glens is protected, valued and celebrated, nurturing resilient thriving communities and attracting visitors from near and far.

Stakeholders, landowners and local communities work together to protect the AONB and its unique character, natural environment, built heritage and rich cultural traditions and to derive the full benefits that Antrim Coast & Glens AONB has to offer.
